ACCESSORY NETWORK NAMES MICHAEL STEFAN LEONIAK AS CREATIVE DIRECTOR OF TRAVEL & LUGGAGE DIVISION

NEW YORK (JANUARY 8, 2010) – Accessory Network Group LLC (“ANG”), recognized as a leading designer and manufacturer in luggage and travel accessories industry, announced today that Michael Stefan Leoniak (“msl”), has been named Creative Director of the company’s Luggage & Travel Division. In his role, msl will oversee all creative and design processes for the company’s wholly-owned and licensed luggage brands including: Ghurka, Calvin Klein, LeSportsac, PGA Tour and Susan G. Komen for the Cure®.

“We are pleased to have such a talented and seasoned designer direct the creative inspiration for our luggage division,” said Morris Chehebar, President of Brand Science/LeSportsac. “Michael will play a paramount role in the growth of the company’s luggage division in the coming years.”

msl is currently designing a luggage and travel accessory collection for the PGA Tour brand to be launched at the Travel Goods Show this March in Las Vegas. The collection will include an assortment of ‘classic club’ luggage crafted of natural colored khakis/twills as well as a group of ‘sporty’ luggage and travel accessories constructed of high performance water resistant fabric. At the Travel Goods Show msl will also unveil a new collection for the Calvin Klein White Label brand, as well as additional travel pieces for the current LeSportsac and Susan G. Komen for the Cure® collections.

A veteran designer with over ten years of experience in the luggage & fashion industry, msl was most recently a Principal Designer at Tumi where he worked directly with Global Creative Director David Chu in the re-launch of the brand's core Alpha Collection. Prior to Tumi, he was a Senior Product Designer for Samsonite. Winning numerous international design awards during his career, msl is most recognized for his work on the Tumi Theorem collection where he was honored with the prestigious Silver Innovation Award.
